Daniel Boone El Zorro Robin Hood

Robin Hood	Daniel Boone	El Zorro
He is a legendary English hero. He lived in Sherwood Forest, in Nottingham, with his band. Stories about him and his adventures began to appear in the 14th century, but the facts are uncertain. He was probably born in 1160. He fought against injustice and he used to rob the rich to give to the poor. He was also a brave fighter and was very good with his bow and arrow. His wife was Maid Marian and his main enemy was the Sheriff of Nottingham, who always tried to capture him, but never could.	He is often called ‘the most famous pioneer and frontier hero.’ He explored the area of Kentucky, USA. He was born in Pennsylvania, USA on November 2, 1734. When he was young, he never went to school or learned how to read or write. He used to spend most of his time hunting. The Indians captured and released him four times, but he built a cabin in Kentucky, and moved his family there. In 1775, he led an expedition that opened a trail through Kentucky. In 1799, he moved west again, into Missouri, and died on September 26, 1820. Today his image is a mixture of fact and legend.	He was born in Madrid in 1793, but then he immigrated to America with his parents, Alejandro Vega and Elena Felicidad. They settled in California and became rich. Then, he returned to Spain to study art and science at Madrid University, but he always considered California his home. When he was back in America, he discovered that the mayor used his position and influence to exploit and rob the poor. He decided to change the situation and adopted a secret identity. He used to wear a black mask and ride a black horse, Tornado. His friend Bernardo pretended to be a deaf mute and spied for him.
